THE WILLIAMS NAME

Williams is a baptismal surname, "the son of William." Other instances are Willamson, Willyams and William.

Johannes Willelmi is recorded living in 1379 in the Poll Tax records of Yorkshire. Hugo Williamson is recorded also in this year.

(Bardsley—"English and Welsh Surnames")

THE WILLIAMS COAT OF ARMS

A Coat of Arms is an emblem or a device which is displayed by titled persons of royal blood, and their decendants. Coats of Arms were originally used for purposes of identification and recognition on the field of battle as well as in civil life.

It is claimed by some writers that Coats of Arms, in a crude form, were used by Noah's sons after the flood. There are records of other Coats of Arms, in one crude form or another, at different periods of ancient history. Heraldry, however, as we know it today, did not become of much importance until soon after the invasion of England by William the Conqueror, A. D. 1066. Heraldry became of general interest at about the time of the crusades.

The Williams Coat of Arms shown on the cover of this volume is described in Crozier's "General Armory", and other reliable works on heraldry, in some cases accompanied by illustrations. It has been used for generations by many American branches of the Williams family.

The shield is black, the lion is silver; his tongue and claws are red.

Sir Bernard Burke, of Heralds College, London, said "Heraldry is prized by all who can show honorable ancestry or wish to found honorable families."

It is quite appropriate that members of the Williams family who have a pride in their ancestry should display the family Coat of Arms, in proper colors.

ANCIENT WILLIAMS FAMILIES

WILLIAMS OF DENDRAETH CASTLE

This family (which claims descent from Prince Rhys ap Tudor, through Trahearn-Goch O'Leyn) is stated to have settled in the 15th century at Saethon, and to have become of Saethon of Saethon, but subsequently to have assumed the name of Williams.

WILLIAMS OF HERRINGSTON

John Williams, Esq. (son of John Williams, Esq. of Dorchester, high sheriff of Dorset 23 Henry VII), appears to have been the first of his family that resided at Herringston, an estate which he purchased, in his father's lifetime, of Sir William Filiol, Knt., 5 Henry VIII. (1513). He was b. 1473, and m. 1st, Margery, dau. and co-heir of Thomas Baker, of Lyme, Dorsetshire; and 2ndly, Alice, dau. of Alexander Cheney, of the Isle of Sheppy Kent, and relict of Sir Thomas de la Lynde, Knt. of Winterbourn Clemston, Dorsetshire. He d. 1549, and was s. by his elder son (by his 1st wife),

Robert Willliam, Esq. of Herringston, b. 1509, high sheriff for Dorset 1567. He m. 1st, Anne, dau. of Henry Trenchard, Esq. of Lytchet, and had an only child, Jane, m. to Robert Bingham, Esq. of Binghams Melcomb, Dorsetshire.

His 2nd wife was Anne, dau. of the above-mentioned Sir Thomas de la Lynde, and sister and co-heir of Sir George de la Lynde, Knt. This lady was one of the representatives of the family of Herring, who were lords of the hamlet of Herringston as early as the reign of King John, and one of whose co-heirs m. John de la Lynde, temp. King Henry VI. By her he had a son and three daus. Mr. Willilams d. 1569, and was s. by his only son,

Sir John Williams, Knt. of Herringston, b. 1545, high sheriff of Dorset 24 and 34 Elizabeth and knight of the shire the 1st year of the ensuing reign. He m. Eleanor, dau. of Henry Uvedale, Esq. of More Critchel, co. Dorset, by whom he had four sons.

WILLIAMS OF LLANGIBBY CASTLE

This is a very ancient Welsh family, claiming descent from Caradog Vreichvras, Lord of Gloucester.

Roger Williams, Esq. (the first of the family who adopted a surname) of Llangibby Castle, and The Priory at Uske, co. Monmouth was son of William Johnes, and grandson of John Thomas, who was 6th in descent from Howell Gam ap David, Esq. lord of Penrhos. The Priory of Uske, Monmouthshire, with other lands in the co., were granted to Roegr Williams, Esq., 34 Henry VIII., 1543. Roger was sheriff for Monmouthshire 3 Elizabeth. He m. Dorothy, dau. of Sir George Baynham, Knt. of Clearwell Court, Gloucestershire (will proved at London, 23 June, 1585), and left (with another son and four daus.) a successor,

Sir Rowland Williams, Knt. of Llangibby Castle, co. Monmouth, high sheriff 2 James I, who m. Cecil, dau. of Sir Edward Mansel, Knt. of Margam, Glamorganshire, and had, with other issue, a dau. Jane, wife of Sir Nicholas Kemeys, Bart., and a son and heir,

Sir Charles Williams, Knt. of Llangibby, who m. 1st, a dau. of Sir William Morgan, Knt. of Tredegar, co. Monmouth, but by her had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Anne, dau. of Sir John Trevor, Knt. of Place Teg, co. Flint, by whom he had two sons and two daus. Sir Charles d. 1641.

WILLIAMS OF PENPONT

Jones, in his History of Brecknockshire, traces the descent of this ancient family from Sir Thomas, or Sir Richard Boleyne, or Bullen, one of the nights of Bernard Newmarch, a Norman chieftain, who allured by the success of Robert Fitzhammon, in Glamorganshire, was tempted, with a determined band of followers, to enter Brecknockshire, which he conquered from Rhys ap Tewdwr, Prince of South Wales. From this same family of Bullen sprang, it is believed, the Bullens of Boleynes, of Blickling, Norfolk; but English genealogists have been silent as to the descent prior to Sir Thomas Boleyne, 1411, from whom Anna Boleyne, Queen of England, was the 4th in descent. Of the unfortunate Queen (always considered of the same race as the Breconshire Bullens), there is a very good portrait at Penpont.

The Rev. Thomas Williams, M.A., vicar of Llanspyddid, son of William ap Philip ap Richard Lawrence ap John ap Lawrence Bullen, appears, from an inscription on his gravestone, to have been proud of his traditional descent from the same ancestor as the moher of Queen Elizabeth. From his having been the first who introduced the use of the surplice in the church service, he was called "Vicar gwyn Llandspyddid," or the White Vicar of Llanspyddid He m. Anne, dau. of Thomas Stonies, of Evenjobb, Radmorshire, and d. 1613.
